UPDATE ON VACCINE RECOMMENDATIONSFeatured Speaker: Dr. John Molinari

Dr. John Molinari received a B.A. in Biology from St. Vincent College and a Ph.D. in Microbiology from the University of Pittsburgh School of Dental Medicine. He is currently Professor and Chairman of the Department of Biomedical Sciences at the University of Detroit Mercy School of Dentistry.

Dr. Molinari has published over 300 scientific articles, text chapters, and abstracts in the areas of Microbiology and Immunology, is a co-author of the text "Practical Infection Control In Dentistry," and has lectured nationally and internationally on topics dealing with infectious diseases and asepsis.

Dr. Molinari is the Infection Control Section editor for The Compendium of Continuing Education in Dentistry, and also a member of the Editorial Board for the Journal of the American Dental Association. In recognition of his efforts, Dr. Molinari has been inducted as an honorary member of the Michigan Dental Association and the International College of Dentists. He has also served as Chairman of the State of Michigan Governor's Risk Reduction and AIDS Policy Commission.

This seminar will consider vaccination as an effective public health infection control approach of both the general population and health care professionals. Emphasis will focus on vaccines used in the prevention of adult infectious disease, especially those with increased occupational risks for immune compromised health care workers. The rationale and classification of available vaccines will be discussed in order to provide participants appropriate scientific and clinical evidence. The overall objective is to present updated information aimed at fostering better understanding of the major historical role vaccines have played in infectious disease prevention, as well as the outlook for future advances.

President's Report-Stephen Lawson

Welcome to Dr. Nima Mir Madjlessi, Dr. Arpan Nandra and Dr. Tara Savage to the MCDS Board of Trustees Meeting.

The State of New Jersey, Department of the Treasury, Division of Revenue now requires Middlesex County Dental Society to use the electronic format to file and pay our annual report. The payment for $25 was made by credit card. The names and addresses for the officers are required annually. Non-profits must provide at least three names. Updated officer information was provided (S. Lawson, R. Silverstein, and J. Courey).

The Task Force on Prevention, Early Detection and Treatment of Cancer in NJ is asking for one or two component members to be dentist volunteers. The volunteers would serve as a liaison between the County Cancer Coalition and MCDS. No prior experience is necessary, only a strong desire to help. Contact Dr. David Lederman at 732-901-7575.

NJDA is requesting nominations for Trustees, ADA Delegates, Council Representatives and Delegates and Alternate Delegates to the NJDA House of Delegates. Nominees were contacted to confirm their interest in the positions.

I will be attending the Council on Nominations Meeting on January 25, 2006. Dr. Richard Kahn, a MCDS member, is a nominee for NJDA Treasurer.

Life Member biographies were faxed to the NJDA President, Dr. August Pellegrini.

I want to thank Dr. Bob Silverstein for creating the MCDS Board of Trustees on-line discussion group.

Editor's Report-Mitch Weiner, Bob Silverstein

This month I created a Google Group for the MCDS Board of Trustees, so that we could discuss issues and post reports between Board meetings. Board members who would like access to the group can request to be included by following the link available from the Board of Trustees link on our web site.

Program Chairperson's Report-Scott Galkin

The Cowie course in November had a good turnout, despite an initial slow course sign-up. We had 43 doctors and 14 staff in attendance. All of the vendors were happy with the time they had to meet with the course attendees. Dr. David Garber will be presenting a full day course on Wednesday, April, 19, 2006 at the Pines. We already have 50 doctors and 10 staff enrolled. A postcard was sent, after New Years, to all dentists in the state promoting the course.

such as the amalgam separator mandate, water fluoridation and a new Governor, the Council on Governmental Affairs plays a critical role in the protection of the dental profession in matters of legislation and regulation. Dr. Weiner has been a leader in our dental society for many years and he understands the legislative issues that affect the dental profession. His genuine concern for the dental profession and superior communication skills make him an ideal choice to serve us on this council.

At the state level, MCDS has 2 members who are nominees for NJDA Officer positions. Both have been tireless advocates for MCDS and organized dentistry throughout their careers. Dr. Daniel Krantz is the nominee for NJDA Vice-President. Dr. Richard Kahn is 1 of 2 nominees for NJDA Treasurer.

I urge all members to attend our February General Meeting. Our Program Chairperson, Dr. Scott Galkin, has invited John Molinari, PhD, as our speaker. Dr. Molinari is the Chairperson of the Department of Biomedical Sciences at the University of Detroit Mercy-School of Dentistry. He is an internationally recognized expert on infectious diseases, infection control and the development and treatment of allergies. His presentation will focus on vaccine recommendations. This course will allow us to better understand the historical value of vaccines in the prevention of infectious diseases. We will also be able to evaluate the necessity for vaccination protection of individuals diagnosed with immune compromising conditions and diseases.

Lastly, please remember to register for our full day CE program on April 19, 2006. Dr. David Garber will speak on Esthetic Success --- 'By Design'. This outstanding member benefit is only $65 to MCDS members and will provide 7 CEU credits. MCDS needs your participation to allow us to bring nationally recognized speakers to our society.

Dr. Silverstein read the above motion regarding the change to the By-Laws. There was no discussion on the motion.

Dr. Lawson read the slate of officers which were approved by the nominating committee. There were no nominations from the floor, and nominations were closed. This slate will be voted upon at the February meeting.

Council on Dental Benefits

CRP Statistics was reviewed from January 1, 2005 through October 31, 2005. There were 112 complaints submitted to NJDA; 51 were resolved, 18 were for data purposes, 33 are pending, and 10 were not resolvable.

There have been unusual problems with MetLife overpaying claims as secondary carrier by overlooking the “other coverage section” as well as the EOB of the primary. This has been occurring regularly with one dentist who must then return each overpayment. NJDA has requested that MetLife find the source of the problem and correct it so as not to inconvenience the dentists involved.

Delta Dental of California continues to process a periapical film as “each additional periapical” if bitewings are also taken. NJDA had previously discussed this matter with Delta of NJ, and the claims in question were re-processed and paid correctly. NJDA will write directly to Delta of California on this issue, since the policy is not consistent with the ADA code descriptor.

The council discussed DDP of Arizona’s development of a two tier reimbursement system; a higher level for those dentists who are “exclusive” to Delta, and a lower level for dentists who participate with other plans. Staff reported that if a significant number of Arizona dentists drop participation with other plans, it could trigger complaints to the Department of Justice as a violation of antitrust laws. According to the Executive Director of the Arizona Dental Association, many dentists are upset about Delta’s announcement of this new system.

The council reviewed correspondence sent to Delta Dental of Minnesota on behalf of a member dentist who had predetermined a three unit bridge for a patient. The predetermination was issued on July 4, 2005, indicating a plan payment of $1,005.00 with the limited disclaimer that the estimate was based on patient’s current eligibility and benefits. When the claim was submitted for payment, Delta paid only $76.70 with the reason for reduction said to be exhaustion of the annual maximum, which occurred some months prior to the predetermination date. NJDA has taken the position that Delta is liable for full payment due to the language of the limited disclaimer. Delta’s initial contact with NJDA was to inform staff that the patient’s authorization on the Claims Resolution form is not HIPAA compliant (it is). Subsequent to the meeting, NJDA received a letter stating that a response was sent directly to the dentist; this response was that no further benefits were payable on the claim. Another letter was sent to Delta, requesting that the matter be referred to its legal department. NJDA staff will continue to follow-up on this matter.

The council reviewed, as informational, minutes of the Advisory Committee formed by Aetna as part of the settlement agreement reached in the lawsuit. That discussion centered on offensive EOB language, some of which Aetna agreed to change. Aetna will also review the idea of claims not being auto-adjudicated if a narrative is attached, but routing them directly to a consultant. Currently, even if a narrative explanation is attached, the auto adjudication process is followed, and in most cases, the claims will deny. Further meetings will be held. The council noted that Dr. Pellegrini has been appointed to that committee by Aetna, and that future meetings are scheduled.

The council reviewed an article which appeared in the ADA News October 3, 2005 entitled “Knowing PPO’s” The dentist urged everyone considering PPO participation to examine closely the costs and benefits of each plan before signing the agreement. The council agrees that this issue points out the need for more educational programs for dentists to enable them to make appropriate business decisions.

Dentists are encouraged to fully incorporate Best Management Practices (BMPs) into their office routine. There is currently legislation being proposed that would require dentists install amalgam separators into their offices. The financial impact to dentists could be tremendous if enacted. NJDA is working to keep the impact to a minimum and hopes that by dentists employing BMPs voluntarily. This proactive approach could be used to convince legislators that dentists are on the forefront of amalgam waste management, thus avoiding costly regulations. ADA resources are available at www.ada.org/prof/resources/topics/amalgam_bmp.asp.

The council discussed legislation signed by Acting Governor Richard Codey on September 26, 2005 that allocates $35 million annually to support the state’s Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs), nearly doubling current funding. New Jersey has 21 community health centers that operate 67 sites. Last year, these sites had more than 234,000 uninsured patient visits. Many of the centers operate a dental facility.

Staff briefed the council on legal and regulatory matters, most notably the fact that a dentist class was certified in the litigation filed by an oral surgeon against Horizon medical and dental plans for its alleged improper and untimely claims processing practices. The certified class consists of all participating and non-participating dentists, regardless of specialty. Staff reported that the Department of Health and Senior Services will not revisit the fluoridation issue until the report is issued by the National Academy of Sciences (NAS), which is studying the current level of 4 ppm as the maximum contaminant level (MCL) for drinking water. That report is expected to be released in February 2006. Staff also Today's patients look beyond the restoration of individual teeth and contemplate enhancing smiles in their entirety. Dentists need a predictable template of "10 definitive Steps to Smile Design".

Resin bonded bridges, porcelain fused to metal and all ceramic restorations, as well as implants are all viable cosmetic solutions to patients suffering with missing teeth in the "Esthetic Zone."

"How do patients and dentists make the best choice?"

This presentation will address the changing, integrated face of dentistry....

reported that the Hightstown Health Council is entertaining a request by residents to remove the fluoride from Hightstown's water supply. One of NJDA's members, Dr. John Laudenberger, sits on that council, and NJDA has been working with him to assist in defeating this initiative. Finally, the council reviewed the Time magazine article reporting on the developing new resistance to fluoridated water.

The council discussed, at length, how NJDA might do a more effective job in educating dentists about dental benefit issues. Various ideas were discussed including continuing education courses and more articles. Staff reported that the continuing education courses on the subject were not well attended, and that many dentists apparently do not read the Capsule. NJDA's website, as well as ADA's, also includes much information. Since more dentists read their component newsletters, staff will e-mail council members detailed information on the prompt payment regulations and a list of frequently asked questions, so that the council members can request that their component editors publish information periodically. Subsequent to the meeting, staff e-mailed the council with the idea of inviting all NJDA members (maximum of 20) to a future meeting of the council.

FAQs - CLAIM PAYMENT ISSUES

Q: What are the time requirements for payment of insurance claims?

A: With the exception of Personal Injury Protection (PIP) and Workers' Compensation claims, carriers (including various types of managed care plans) must pay "clean" claims within 30 days (for electronic claims), 40 days (for paper claims), or in the case of capitation payments, within 5 days of the due date. Overdue payments must include simple interest at the rate of 10% per year. However, certain self-insured plans and union trust funds governed by ERISA are not subject to state regulation. Federal regulations that govern "ERISA" plans state that decisions on post-service claims must be made within 30 days, but that does not mean claims must be paid within 30 days.

Q: An insurance company is requesting a refund for a claim it states was paid in error. Must I comply?

A: Absent a specific contractual agreement related to this issue between a dentist and a third party payer, it is widely held that an insurance carrier is not entitled to recover an "overpayment" made to an innocent third-party creditor (e.g., dentist) when: (1) the payment was made due solely to the insurer's mistake; (2) the mistake was not induced by a misrepresentation of the third-party creditor; (3) the third party creditor acted in good faith without prior knowledge of this mistake; and, (4) the amount is not greater than the sum that was owed to the third party creditor. If you receive such a request, contact NJDA for assistance.

Q: An insurance company is requesting a radiograph before it will pay my claim. Must I comply?

A: If the requested radiographs are available, dentists should submit diagnostic copies (never the original). However, if radiographs were not necessary for diagnosis or treatment and, therefore, not taken, the carrier cannot withhold payment solely on the basis that radiographs did not accompany the claim. State law (N.J.S.A. 45:6-18.2) provides that radiographs may be used in the course of dental services only for diagnostic or treatment purposes, not to verify the performance of dental services. Further, New Jersey's prompt payment regulations require plans to provide to participating dentists (or enrollees as the situation dictates) a list of their documentation requirements for various services. This provision was intended to avoid situations in which payment was delayed due to the plan's need for "further information". The Department of Banking and Insurance has stated that it is not acceptable for a plan to make "random" requests for information on submitted claims.

Q: I received payment from my patient's dental plan based upon the plan's determination of UCR, which is considerably less than my actual fee. There is a statement on the check that the payment is considered "payment in full". Is this binding or may I deposit the check and bill the patient for the balance?

A: This type of restriction is enforceable so, if you accept the check, you accept the payment as "payment in full". Some self-insured plans adopted this technique to hold down their costs but prevent them from being passed on to their employees. This also occurs when an insurance company is impaired or becomes insolvent and payments are made from the "Insurance Guaranty Association". The law which created the association requires a "provider of health care services", in order to receive payment, to forgive 20% of the obligation which would otherwise be paid by the insurer had it not been insolvent.

Q: How can I legally waive the copayment for certain patients (e.g., clergy)?

A: A dentist must "conspicuously disclose" on the face of the claim form that all or a portion of the copayment will not be collected from the patient. Based on information reported to NJDA, it appears that the result of this disclosure may be that the plan will reduce its payment accordingly. For example, if the plan normally covers 80% of the fee, but a dentist indicates that the 20% copayment will not be collected, the plan may only pay 80% of the amount that the dentist intends to collect (80% of 80%). Failure to disclose waiver of copayment is considered insurance fraud.

Q: I have a problem with a plan that my office has not been able to resolve. What is my recourse?

A: Member dentists can always turn to NJDA's Claim Resolution Program (CRP) for assistance with a variety of non-payment issues, but only if the administrative remedies of the plan (e.g., appeal process) have been exhausted. NJDA has been very successful in resolving problems. In 2004, NJDA received a total 151 complaints; of this number, only three were not resolvable because of a specific policy limitation not previously communicated. Thirty-three complaints were submitted for "data purposes only" after the dental office resolved the problem; this information is helpful in alerting NJDA to patterns of poor performance on the part of specific plans. Contact NJDA's Department of Dental Care Programs for a copy of the CRP form, which you should have the patient sign to authorize release of information to NJDA.
